WINNERS ANNOUNCED FOR THE 2016 SISTER CITIES YOUNG ARTIST COMPETITION

Quinn Maynard, a Lafayette student, was selected as the 2016 winner of the 28th Annual Sister Cities Young Artist Competition. Her piece, titled “Supporting Each Other Through Peace”, will now go on to compete in the Sister Cities International Young Artist Competition, and will be displayed at the Sister Cities Annual Conference in Washington, DC.

Second place was awarded to Lucy Morris, also of Lafayette; Nyla Clay from Bryan Station received third place.

The theme of this year’s contest was “Peace Through People”.

All entries will be on exhibit until February 29th at the John Irvin Central Bank Art Gallery.

This event is sponsored by Central Bank, and Lexington Sister Cities Commission.
